Pigments of Your Imagination!

The Art League of Long Island is celebrating its 70th anniversary with the exhibition titled "Pigments of Your Imagination!" Artists are encouraged to share with us their use of color to relay emotion, perceptions, and effects in a variety of mediums. Color can create harmony, contrast or depth. Color schemes can affect the meaning and mood of your art and create a visual impact. We look forward to seeing your work and how the colors that you use impact the viewer, set compositional moods, and stir emotion.

Exhibition Juror

The Art League of Long Island is honored to have Joshua Ruff serve as juror for Pigments of Your Imagination. Joshua Ruff is the Co-Executive Director at the Long Island Museum of American Art, History & Carriages, in Stony Brook. He is a graduate of Syracuse University with BAs in Broadcast Journalism and in History, and Stony Brook University with a MA in History. He has worked at the Long Island Museum for 24 years including as Curator of its History and Carriage Collections. He has curated more than 60 exhibitions, including, most recently, Fire & Form: New Directions in Glass (2021). In addition to co-authoring several books and exhibition catalogs, his articles have appeared in publications including Magazine Antiques; American Art Review; New York Archives Magazine; American History magazine.
